Rules for Examinations, Admission to the Middle and Senior Classes, Etc.

[For all the Normal Schools of Pennsylvania.]

I. Admission to the senior and middle classes shall be determined by the State Board of Examiners at the annual examination by the Board.

2. In order to be admitted to the middle class at any State Normal School, students must be examined by the State Board in all the junior studies (except English Grammar and Arithmetic), and this examination shall be final. Persons who desire to be admitted to the middle class without having previously attended a State Normal School, must pass an examination by the faculty and State Board of Examiners in the academic studies of the junior year (except the senior review studies), and Plane Geometry or the First Book of Cæsar, and must complete School Management in the middle year.

3. In order to be admitted to the senior class, students must be examined by the State Board in all the middle year studies (except Methods). and this examination shall be final. Persons who desire to be admitted to the senior class without having previously attended a State Normal School, must pass an examination by the faculty and State Board in the academic studies of the entire course, except the review studies of the senior year; and must devote their time during the senior year to the professional studies of the course, and the review studies.

4. If the faculty of any State Normal School, or the State Board of Examiners, decide that a person is not prepared to pass an examination by the State Board, he shall not be admitted to the same examinations at any other State Normal School during the same school year.

5. If a person who has completed the examinations required for admission to the middle or senior class at any State Normal School, desires to enter another Normal School, the principal of the school at which the examination was held shall send the proper certificate to the principal of the school which the person desires to attend. Except for the reason here stated, no certificate setting forth the passing of the junior or middle year studies shall be issued.

6. Candidates for graduation shall be examined by the State Board in all the branches of the senior year, including English Grammar and Arithmetic. They shall have the opportunity of being examined in any higher branches, including vocal and instrumental music and double-entry bookkeeping; and all studies completed by them shall be named in their certificates.

7. Persons who have been graduated may be examined at any State examination in any higher branches, and the Secretary of the Board of Examiners shall certify on the back of their diplomas to the passing of the branches completed at said examination.

8. A certificate setting forth the proficiency of all applicants in all the studies in which they desire to be examined by the State Board of Examiners shall be prepared and signed by the faculty and presented to the Board. The certificates for the studies of the junior year shall include the standing of applicants in the review studies of the senior year.

9. Graduates of State Normal Schools in the regular course and graduates of accredited colleges may become candidates for the degrees of Bachelor of Pedagogics and Master of Pedagogics. To obtain these degrees, candidates must be examined by the faculty and State Board upon the studies of the supplementary course. Three years' successful teaching in the public schools of the State since graduation (or two years in the case of candidates who taught in the Model School) will be required of all candidates for the degree of Master of Pedagogics, in addition to the branches of study indicated above.

10. Attendance at a State Normal School during the entire senior year will be required of all candidates for graduation; but candidates for the pedagogical degrees may prepare the required work in absentia.

Historical and Descriptive Statement.

THE Southwestern State Normal School is the outgrowth of an Academy first opened in 1852. It is located in the borough of California, a town beautifully situated on the left bank of the Monongahela in Washington County, Pennsylvania. Not only was the site for the town well chosen, but good judgment and foresight were shown in the plans adopted for the present and future improvement of a village that the founders felt sure would grow into a place of influence and importance. Within the last decade marked progress has been made in improving the streets by paving. Many handsome edifices have been put up in recent years, including two of the best bank buildings and two of the largest business blocks in the Monongahela Valley.

California attracts families seeking good educational advantages together with the conveniences, culture and comfort of a residence town. The private residences recently built are in keeping with the imposing new business houses and the town is rapidly becoming a place of beautiful homes. No saloons have ever been opened in the town or within several miles of it.

In 1865 the Academy was chartered by the State as the "South Western Normal College". About three years later, August 26, 1868, the corner stone of the present main building was laid. Gen. John W. Geary, then Governor of Pennsylvania, was present and made the principal address.

On May 26, 1874, the "Southwestern State Normal College" was recognized by state authority as the "Southwestern State Normal School" for the Tenth District, composed of the counties of Washington, Fayette, Greene, and Somerset, and the first class of two members was graduated in the following year.

The school now occupies a group of seven buildings. The Main Building was first used in 1870; the North Hall in 1874; the South Hall, in 1876; Science Hall, in 1892; the Gymnasium, in 1894, and the Laundry and Power Building in 1899.

The campus contains about 12 acres, and shows an attractive blending of grass, flowers, shrubbery, shade trees, and well constructed grounds for games such as tennis, basket ball, etc. A new three-story building, Dixon Hall, used as a dining hall and dormitory, was completed a year ago and was first used at the beginning of the fall term of 1907. It is 80 feet in width and 132 feet in length and occupies a commanding site just south of South Hall. The first story space is used chiefly for a dining hall, accommodating about 500 persons, and a kitchen with necessary rooms connected therewith. The second and third stories provide dormitory rooms for one hundred lady students and teachers. The basement story will be used for class rooms and for storage.

LOCATION.

The Southwestern State Normal School is located in the Pittsburgh district, only thirty miles direct line, fifty miles by steam railroad and river, from the Smoky City. The school combines the advantages of a comparatively quiet town free from large mills, with that of close proximity to the many cities and towns of this populous region, a region characterized alike by industrial thrift and educational interest.

Excellent train service is maintained between Pittsburgh and California on the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Trains run each way nearly every hour of the day. Good service is also had up the river to Rice's Landing and other points as well as eastward to Uniontown, Connelsville, and other points. A trolley line from Pittsburgh now runs to within three miles of California. It is now believed that this line will be completed as far as California at an early date. The Normal School is located only a few blocks from the P. R. R. station.

Courses of Instruction.

I. Ancient Languages.

LATIN.

1. Elementary Latin—Acquisition of a Latin vocabulary, mastery of grammatical forms, selections from easy Latin prose.

2. Latin Literature—Cæsar, Gallic War, Nepos and other selections. Review of paradigms.

7. School Law.—Sources and distribution of money for educational purposes; special legislation for training schools; certificates; compulsory attendance; school officers; qualifications of voters for officers; duties and powers of the State Department of Education; comparison of the laws of other states and countries with those of Pennsylvania; lectures, prescribed reading, discussions.

III. English.

1. Elementary English.—Fundamental principles of language, exercise in writing correct forms, sentence analysis, exercises in syntax.

2. Rhetoric and Composition.—Argumentation, exposition, narrative and descriptive composition based on reading and individual experience.

3. Literature.—A study of popular classics for thought content, style, and individuality, the novel, essay, oration, the short story.

4. History of Literature.—A study of the development and growth of the English language and literature as affected by the life of the English people and by the impact of outside influences, more especially the Norman, the Italian, and the later French.

5. Elocution and Oratory.—Vocal exercises and training in expression, extemporaneous speaking, discussion and debate in the class room, on the Chapel platform, and in the literary societies.

6. Literary Forms.—The drama: its rise, climax, decline; the sonnet; lyric poetry narration and description; study of metres based on the writings of standard English and American authors.

7. Pedagogical Course.—Discussion of the methods of teaching grammar, composition, and reading: synthetic, analytic, and comparative methods illustrated; practice lessons, written work, methods of securing and using material.

IV. History.

1. Grecian History.—College requirements in Grecian History, including a brief survey of the life and institutions of the Egyptians, the Chaldeans, the Assyrians, the Hindus, the Hebrews, the Phoenicians, and the Persians. Supplementary reading and literary references. Map work. Training in the use of reference libraries, historical atlases and note taking. Satisfactory note books and maps an important feature of the course.

2. Roman History.—College requirements in Roman history including the traditions, the early kings, the republic, the Empire, the "Holy Roman Empire," and a general survey of European history up to the Renaissance. Special study of the ideas and institutions which have survived in later European history. Supplementary reading and literary references. Training in use of reference libraries, historical atlases and note taking. Map work. Satisfactory note books and maps an important feature of this course.

3. English History.—College requirements in English history including a brief survey of contemporary European History. Study of ideas and institutions peculiar to Anglo-Saxon civilization. Training in use of reference libraries, historical atlases and note taking. Map work. Satisfactory note books and maps are an important feature in this course.

The above courses are designed to meet state and college requirements and to fit the student for pedagogical courses in history.

4. Pedagogy of History.—Place of history in modern school curricula. Aim and methods of teaching history. The philosophy of history. Review and criticisms of text books. Reading one volume each of advanced histories of Rome, Greece, England and United States. Weekly papers and individual conferences on assignment. Selection and use of reference libraries. Practice teaching and criticism by class or instructor. Final thesis on course. Three lectures weekly and one hour of practice. First half year.

V. Physical Science.

PHYSICS.

1. General Course in Physics.—Mechanics of solids, liquids, and gases, recitations accompanied by experiments and demonstrations; individual laboratory work; original problems; permanent note book on laboratory work and original problems required. One Semester.

2. Theories of sound, heat, light, magnetism, and electricity. Recitations and laboratory work same as in Course 1. One Semester.

CHEMISTRY.

1. & 2. Double course.—Inorganic chemistry: study of the fundamental laws of the science; detailed study of the non-metallic and metallic elements; practice in formulas and equations; solution of simple chemical problems; tests for common metals. Recitations and individual laboratory work, with permanent notes on laboratory work. One Semester for each Course.

1. Science and Methods.—The more elementary parts of Chemistry and Physics will be covered in this course, special subjects will be assigned pupils to report before the close, the best methods for collecting material and preparing simple apparatus will be discussed. This course will be especially adapted to the needs of those who expect to teach in our public schools, and is intended for those students who have had one year's work in each of the subjects of physics and chemistry before entering the Normal. One Semester.

VI. Biological Sciences.

1. Botany.—Starting with the seed the life history of the plant is studied, work done by different organs of plant,—morphology of plants studied in connection with their functions, enough work in classification will be given to enable the student to find out for himself the names of unknown plants, types of Algae, Fungi, Mosses, ferns and flowering plants taken up in order to get some idea of the development of the higher plant life from the lower. The methods embrace recitations, field work, assigned reading, and experiments. One Semester.

2. Zoology.—A type study of animals of economic importance in the community of California or in Pennsylvania so far as possible, special attention given to the animals and insects which are a menace to garden, farm, orchard and forest. Geographical distribution of animals. Natural selection and survival of the fittest; comparison of the lower and higher forms of animal life, enough to get some idea of the development of the higher forms from the lower. Recitations, field work, and reports by the pupils. One Semester.

3. Physiography.—The general phenomena of the earth including its atmosphere, surface and underground waters, configurations of the land, manifestations of its interior heat, distribution of plant and animal life. Recitations, field observations of the physiographic processes in the vicinity of the school,—reports by pupils of these observations.

4. Biology and Method.—A general summing up of all previous work for a working basis; discussions of the values of the general subject; practical work in collecting and arranging material by the pupils; lesson plans put to test in model lessons before the class with training school pupils. The economic value of these subjects discussed.

This course is intended for those pupils who have had one year's work in biology in an accredited high school. One Semester.

PHYSIOLOGY.

1. A Course in general Physiology.—The vital processes of the human body studied, sufficient anatomy and physiology given to enable the student to understand the conditions under which the body performs its functions naturally; a detailed study of the special senses; practical school room hygiene—attention given to plants, insects, and animals in their relation to disease; class demonstration to some extent and models used in some illustrations. One Semester.

METHODS OF TEACHING GEOGRAPHY.

A comparative study of continents, countries, river basins, trade routes, mountain systems, water ways and other geographical topics with a view to eliminating non-essentials and emphasizing the fundamental principles of geographical development. Geographical topics of current interest, such as railroad and canal building, explanations, development of resources, etc., studied with their physiographic bases. Each topic viewed from the standpoint of the teacher.

VII. Fine Arts.

1. History of Art.—a. American Art: Revolutionary Period, The Hudson River School, Contemporary Artists. b. English Art: The Early School, The School of Portraitists, The School of Landscapists, The Pre-Raphaelite School, Contemporary painters and sculptors. c. French Art: The Early Masters, The Classic School, The Realists, The Barbizon School, The Impressionists, Present tendencies in painting and sculpture, a brief survey of other modern European schools of art, comparisons with the early masters in Italy, Spain, and Germany.

2. Art Interpretation.—Study of composition, means of production, thought content and feeling, art criticism and appreciation.

3. Free-hand and Perspective Drawing.—Study from models of form, proportion, perspective, values, light and shade, using pencil, charcoal, ink with brush, and chalk.

4. Color Work.—Handling of water colors and colored chalk; study of color values, painting fruits, vegetables, flowers, landscape; simple illustration.

5. Design.—Principles of design, design in outline, two and three tones and color.

6. Clay Modeling.—Study of form and construction, relation to other forms of artistic expression.

7. Practical Work.—Drawing, design, color work and clay modeling studied in relation to making and applied weaving, card-board construction and decoration nature work expression; memory sketching and other rapid work at black-board for school-room illustration.

8. Pedagogical Course.—Value of drawing, painting and modeling in educative power; importance and place in public school course, relation to other subjects; study of guided and unguided artistic expression of children; study of different theories and methods of teaching.

VIII. Modern Languages.

GERMAN.

Course 1.—Elementary principles of Grammar, dictation, and conversation based on German customs, geography and literature. Selected poems memorized. Reading: Guerber's "Maerchen und Erzaehlungen" and Wenkebach and Muller's "Glueck Auf."

ADMISSION.

General Conditions.

Applicants for admission must be at least seventeen years of age and must present certificates of good moral character. If they come from other institutions they must furnish from such institutions certificates of honorable dismissal before they will be admitted to examination, or before consideration will be given to their credentials of scholarship.

Our course of study is a three year's course. Holders of teachers' certificates and graduates of high schools with shorter courses (that is of two years or three years) are admitted without examination into the Junior Class. Graduates of high schools with four year courses and graduates with high grades from high schools with three year courses are admitted without examination by the faculty to the State Board Examination for admission into the Middler Class. College graduates and graduates with exceptionally high grades and unqualified recommendations from high schools of the first class have the privilege of taking the faculty examination for recommendation to the State Board of Examiners for admission into the Senior Class. All applicants who hold neither a teacher's certificate nor a high school diploma, or its equivalent, are admitted upon passing a satisfactory entrance examination, which will be arranged for by correspondence to be held at a time and place convenient for each applicant. It is not the object of this examination to turn away any capable applicant, but merely to determine whether the candidate is fully prepared to begin the studies of our Junior year and to exclude all immature and ill-prepared applicants. The work of our classes is rendered far more interesting and profitable by admitting no students who would hinder the progress of others. We anticipate that in the future, as in the past, many of our best students will come from rural sections where limited high school privileges must be compensated for in part by advantages of another sort. The California Normal cordially welcomes earnest and capable young men and women from rural districts. They will find conditions here very favorable to their progress.

Declaration.

Before being admitted to Normal courses all applicants will be required to sign the following declaration.

WE, the undersigned, Students of the State Normal School of the..... District, hereby certify that we are each over seventeen years of age, and that it is our object in attending this Institution to prepare ourselves for the duties of teachers, and we hereby further agree to teach two full annual terms in the common schools of Pennsylvania.

Purpose.

The function of this Normal School is to prepare and qualify teachers for service in the public schools of Pennsylvania. Two distinctive lines of work are carried on, the Academic and Professional. The Academic courses are intended to broaden the horizon of the individual, arouse his scholastic enthusiasm, and secure the highest grade of mental training and alertness. The Professional courses include History of Education, Psychology, Pedagogy of the Common school subjects; Methods of teaching; Practice in the Elementary school; Training of the speaking voice, School law, School economy, School organization and management.

Fitness for the Work.

Good health is a prime prerequisite to entrance upon a Normal School course of study. While the work is not too exhaustive for a person in good health, yet those who are lacking in physical vigor will find it to their profit to delay entrance until they may have fully recovered from all physical weakness.

The qualification of mental aptitude is as fully an essential characteristic as mere physical health. It is always to be recognized that the finest scholar does not necessarily make the most successful teacher, but on the other hand the Normal School does not pretend to form capable teachers of those who are lacking either in learning or the skill to instruct and manage the ordinary pupil of the elementary school.

Further the Board of Instruction does not assume to itself infallibility of judgment as to fitness in individual cases. It merely intends to look for the essential characters of alertness, integrity, love for work, enthusiasm, inspiration, energy that never wearies, and a proper conception on the part of the teacher of the relation of the school to the individual and the community.

Practice School.

The professional work at California centers in the practice teaching in the Training School. All other work leads up to this as the real end and purpose of the Normal School. No other work so clearly shows the real character and ability of students, and during their Senior year no other work demands so much of their time and best effort.

Each grade is in charge of one regular training teacher who meets the members of his or her teaching group daily for the frankest, kindest, and most cordial criticism and helpful suggestions of the day's lessons. Once each week a longer conference is held for more thorough and detailed open discussion of one particular lesson of the week, or for a fuller discussion of methods and aims, child-study, etc.

Those without previous experience in teaching receive the needed suggestions, encouragement, and sympathetic appreciation of their difficulties that strengthen them and give them a glimpse of the real problems of teaching; while those who have already taught, find likewise in the new ideals and opportunities at hand a new stimulus and zest.

Discipline.

The aim of the administration is to lead students to be self-governing. The relation which a Normal School sustains to the State, and the guarantee of self-control which it must vouch for in regard to its students compel a much more rigid and careful daily oversight of the habits of students than would be either necessary or advisable in institutions of a different character. This school can in no measure take over the function of a reform school. Its one disciplinary function is to offer the opportunity for young men and young women of well defined purpose and age to cultivate under the most favorable circumstances habits of good order, self respect, and leadership. Individuals who can not adapt themselves to such an atmosphere will find it necessary to seek other schools for their education. Fitness for the profession of teaching is the one end to be sought and any person who can not comprehend such an ideal is a misfit.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

PHYSICAL CULTURE AND ATHLETICS.

The Normal Gymnasium is a large, well lighted and ventilated building fully equipped with apparatus, such as the vaulting horse, parallel bars, horizontal bar, climbing ladders, traveling and flying rings, hand ball board, windows screened for basket ball, indoor base ball, etc., a large number of tumbling mats, chest weight machines of all kinds, Indian clubs, bar bells, wands, tug of war rope and cleats, spring boards, vaulting standards and poles, punching bag, etc.

The athletic field is one of the finest grounds in this part of the state for base ball, foot ball and track athletics.

The aim of the athletic work is to give every student the chance of not only keeping in good physical health, but of building up the body by systematic training, and of overcoming the defects brought about by careless habits of position and movement, also in the vigorous games of base ball, foot ball, etc., to develop courage, determination, self-control, aggressiveness, self-reliance, obedience, quickness of decision, united action as well as agility, strength and endurance, qualities all of which are so essential to a team member and to a large extent throughout life.

Physical Training for Women.

In the physical training work for the young women of the School, health and grace are considered the goal, in reaching which a multitude of other desirable qualities are encouraged. The course is about equally divided between educational and recreative work. In good weather outdoor games occupy the time, while during the winter months, Swedish gymnastics, æsthetic gymnastics, work in hand apparatus, for instance clubs and wands, and games, form each day's program.

This work forms a part of the regular course and a physician's certificate is required from any student unable to enroll in a gymnastic class. New pupils are requested to wait until arriving at the school before providing themselves with suits, as uniform suits are required and they are supplied at reasonable prices at the school.

Rules for Field Athletics.

The trustees and faculty of the school encourage all healthful games and sports, but they believe that Athletics, like every other recreation or activity, should be subject to judicious management. In conformity with this view the athletic committee has adopted the following code of regulations:

I. No one shall be permitted to become a member of the Normal football or baseball team who is not in good and regular standing as a student.

II. No one shall become a member of such team if he carries fewer than twenty periods (45 minutes each) of work per week.

III. No one shall remain a member of the Normal team whose work is not approved and passed by at least two-thirds of the teachers to whom he recites.

IV. No one can remain in the team whose deportment is unsatisfactory to the faculty and student government associations of the school.

V. No pecuniary inducements shall be offered any student for playing on an athletic team.

VI. Athletics shall not receive emphasis to the detriment of the other important work of the school.

Library.

The frequent and systematic use of the library is a habit which should be formed and fostered by the school. We have over seven thousand carefully selected books displayed in a well lighted reading room centrally located on the first floor of the main building.

In the children's annex of the library the student teachers of the practice school, under the supervision of the librarian, direct the reading of the pupil.

The reading room affords an opportunity for the students to acquaint themselves with current literature. Daily, weekly, and semi-weekly papers, magazines and reviews, representing all the departments of social and industrial activity are open to the inspection of all students daily.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three flourishing Literary Societies at the Normal, the Clionian, the Philomathean, and the Junior. The Junior Society was founded in September, 1905, and has made for itself an excellent record during its first three years. It is for Junior class students, and its meetings are held in the chapel.

The other two societies have worked side by side in friendly rivalry for many years. Each society occupies a large and beautiful hall, complete in all its appointments. The weekly exercises are of a very interesting character and afford to the members a most valuable literary training. Much of the success of the California Normal graduates is due to the training received in these societies. No event of the year at California is quite so popular as the "Annual Contest" between these two societies.

Religious Life at the Normal.

The religious atmosphere at the Normal impresses every one. The active Christian work of the students and faculty is an inspiration to every new student. There are strong organizations of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Each year delegates are sent to summer conferences. A healthy moral atmosphere should surround the student. While the authorities of this school avoid everything of a sectarian nature, they endeavor in every proper way to interest students in Christian work. Devotional exercises are conducted on the morning of each day in the chapel. Attendance at some church service in town on Sabbath morning is expected of all, as is also attendance at Sabbath evening services in the chapel. In all the religious services of the school students are encouraged to take an active part.

Social Life.

Several receptions are held each term that students may be perfected in the usages of good society. Frequent talks are given to the pupils on social forms, personal habits and kindred topics. Constant care is exercised that both young men and young women may have a wise and happy development. At least twice each year formal dinners are given with toastmaster and speeches. These accustom our young people to such occasions and are a source of special enjoyment. The allotment of the students in small companies at separate tables in the dining room makes possible occasional social affairs which are most cheerful and homelike. Teachers and students associate freely and the ancient motto obtains, "Manners Makyth Man."

Household Department.

The buildings are heated by steam and lighted by electricity. Reception rooms and parlors are conveniently located thus foregoing the necessity of visitors in the dormitories. Modern fire escapes, electric alarm bells, fire hose connected with pumps and reservoir, and a night watchman give special protection against fire.

The students' rooms are large, light, and cheery. They are heated, lighted, carpeted, newly papered and provided with dressing case, table, spring bed, washstand, and wardrobe. Printed regulations governing their occupancy are posted in each room, and students will be held responsible for their own rooms, and any injury done will be charged to the occupants. Damages of a general nature will be assessed upon the whole school.

The dining room, one of the finest in the country, is spacious, well ventilated, lighted by electricity, and unusually pleasant. The table commends itself by abundance of supply, superior quality and adaption to health. The teachers board with the students, and while such order is required as obtains in any refined home the cheerful advantages of such daily intercourse have large educational value.

Teachers room in every hall and are in constant and close association with the students. Two students usually occupy each room.

Daily inspection of the dormitories is made by a trained nurse. This insures proper hygienic oversight as well as the early detection of incipient symptoms of illness among the students. In cases of physical indisposition a slight charge will be made for all trays sent to rooms.

The call of a physician is at the discretion of the nurse and all bills for medical attendance will be rendered and collected by the registrar's office.
